GOUGHAM APPLAUDS LINDY'S MOTHER ON PARADE ROUTE

Efforts of the Michigan School Teacher To Avoid Sharing Spotlight, With Son Unavailing.

PARRIES QUERIES OF INTERVIEWERS

Mrs. Lindbergh Is Haired as 'His Glorious Mother' in Address Made by Mayor Walker.

New York, June 13.—(AP)—A Michigan school teacher stood modestly in the background of New York's greatest celebration today while her son was hailed by millions as America's captain courageous.

Mrs. Evangeline Lodge Lindbergh was with her son-borne colonel from the moment he stepped from the city tug Macon at The Battery this noon, but she stayed back-stage as the gayest pageant in the city's history unfolded around her boy.

Doubtless she thought that the shouting and the tumult were for him, and that she would not intrude upon his day of days. But the crowd thought differently, and so several times during the march of triumph up paper-strewn Broadway and Fifth avenue she was forced to acknowledge resounding cheers for "Lindy's mother."

"His glorious mother," Mayor Walker called her, as he presented her to the multitude before city hall. Mrs. Lindbergh, who had been occupying an inconspicuous seat among the silhouetted members of the official reception committee, came forward—timidly.

Merchants Lose $3,000 In Ad Fraud

One of Trio Under Arrest Charged With Swindle in Movie Scheme.

Advertising pays—that is, if it's within the law, but it proves costly if these bounds are overstepped.

To this, more than 24 Atlanta merchants will testify today because they have been literally "stuck" for more than $3,000 by a trio of so-called "advertising specialty men" who are charged with stepping just a little outside of the limits of the criminal code of the state with the result that one of the specialty men's names now graces the records of the Fulton tower in addition to warrant dockets of the municipal court.

Here's how it happened. W. W. Poland, of Birmingham, and J. C. Williams, of various points south of the Mason and Dixon line, tried to persuade Atlanta merchants to contribute between $25 and $50 each in an advertising scheme which they were told would bring between 500 and 1,200 prospective customers to their respective business establishments.

In walked Mr. Williams and Mr. Poland, who put up the proposition, stating to the said merchants that they would run a "trailer" on the feature pictures at a local theater advertising the respective firms in addition to giving away between 500 and 1,200 keys to small boxes which were to be kept in the various business establishments and which were to be given to the person to whom the keys were given. In the event that one of the keys fit the lock on a certain box, the merchant was to give the winner a prize which was to be furnished by the specialty advertising men, so investigating detectives relate.

That evidently sounded like a bona fide advertising stunt, but according to Solicitor General John A. Boykin was a violation of the lottery laws. Then came the date for the running of the respective advertising trailers. The films had been made by a local film company but the specialty men had not called for them so had deposited them with the manager that the films were not forthcoming.

Complaints were rapidly registered and search for the specialty men began. It was found that they had checked out of the hotel on Saturday, taking with them the money contributed by Atlanta merchants.

The result was the sweeping out of warrants in municipal court and the subsequent arrest of W. W. Poland, who was later released in $400 bail from Fulton tower. Special investigator George Cole, of Solicitor General John A. Boykin's office, made the arrest.

Associated with Poland and Williams was another man whose identity has not been divulged by authorities who say that the case is still under investigation and as early arrest is expected.

Manhattan Pays Greatest of All Tributes to Lindbergh

No conqueror in the history of the world ever received a welcome such as was accorded Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh yesterday when he returned to New York, the city from which he made his record flight across the Atlantic. The metropolis of teeming millions turned out en masse overhead, the "Lone Eagle" was carried in triumph through the densely lined streets amid a din of cheers that was rushed to Atlanta by Telephoto, shows the Lindbergh parade as it passed up Fifth avenue. WELCOME MARKED BY HUMAN TOUCH

Lindbergh Is Presented With Medals of Valor By New York City and New York State.

BY TOM PETTY. (By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

New York, June 13.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh came home today to a screaming, joy-mad New York.

Before the din was still 250 harbor craft had churned the bay into a vortex, and eight miles of city streets were ankle-deep in confetti and ticker-tape.

Three weeks ago he had stood in line with several thousand New Yorkers patiently waiting his turn to see a movie. Today several million New Yorkers stood in line 10 deep, stretching from The Battery to Central park to see the same blonde-haired young man.

But in the meantime he had hopped over the ocean and into the hearts of the civilized world.

Welcome Breaks Record. It was a welcome such as New York never before had given any one. It was so unanimous, so heartfelt, so huge and so brimming over with good will and simplicity that it brought from the slim, ruddy-faced young flier the statement that in his judgment it was "the reception of Paris, Brussels, London and Washington rolled into one."

It was a welcome in which all that was unofficial overshadowed all that was official. The formal touch was lost in the roaring of a million-mouthed public and drowned in the screech of harbor craft.

It was 12:25 p. m. when Lindbergh dropped down in The Narrows just outside a boat-dotted harbor. He had flown from Washington in an army plane at the head of a formation of 21 pursuit planes and landed at Mitchell field, near the spot of his take-off for the history-making flight to Paris. His own plane, "The Spirit of St. Louis"—better known as "We"—had to be left behind in Washington due to a jammed valve caused by salt water which had seeped into the engine on the trip aboard the Memphis from Paris.

Lindbergh was transferred to the Macon, the official boat of welcome, and rolled down the bay to The Battery, where he was rushed up Lower Broadway to city hall. Here the city's welcome came to its official climax.

Factions in School Budget Deadlock Reach Agreement

2,781,271 Figure Accepted by Citizens' Committee and Conference Body Goes to School Board.

After three vain attempts to agree on a budget for operation of Atlanta schools for this year, the citizens' advisory committee and a special conference committee from the board of education late Monday night agreed on a proposed budget, providing a total expenditure of $2,781,271.27.

The fourth draft will be offered to the board at its session this afternoon at the city hall for adoption, and will have the support of the five members of the conference committee.

Members of the two committees agree Monday night on the fourth attempt to draw a budget acceptable to both the board and the advisory body at an executive session held in the office of Harold Hirsch, chairman of the advisory body. Public and newspapermen were barred from the session, and a shroud of secrecy was thrown about all details of the joint conference.

Action of the two bodies and the sheet tentatively agreed to by each, were based on a recommended budget offered by the administrative department of the school system. The only proviso which the advisory body placed

CONVICT IS SLAIN IN JOLIET BREAK

Third Sensational Attempt To Escape Made by Slayers of Deputy Warden Klein.

Joliet, Ill., June 13.—(AP)—Overpowering three prison guards and kidnapping Sheriff Albert E. Markgraf, four of the six convicts condemned to death for killing Sheriff Peter Klein, a deputy at the new Stateville penitentiary, May 5, 1925, in their original break, were turned back in their third attempt today by a shower of bullets from police and prison guards.

Reaching the outer gate of the prison yard, with the sheriff, a pistol pointed against his side, driving his own automobile into which he had been forced, an ambush of guards hid outside the wall caused the death of one convict, Gregorio Rizzo, his life already forfeited, died after bullets fired from the very scaffold waiting to take his life and a window of the sheriff's residence fatally wounded him.

As in each of the other two breaks, one man gained his freedom, this time Charles Schrader, youngest of the group and at voting age the slayer of three—his father, a policeman and Deputy Warden Klein.

In the convicts' second attempt Seven in First. Seven men were in the first break from the penitentiary. James Price, murderer, never has been recaptured. Today's break bore the earmarks of spontaneity.

GEORGIA TRUSTEES CONFER 9 DEGREES

Dr. M. L. Brittain and Harold Hirsch, Atlanta, Given Honorary Degree of Doctor of Laws.

Athens, Ga., June 13.—(AP)—The board of trustees of the University of Georgia voted today to confer nine honorary degrees Wednesday in connection with the annual commencement exercises.

Those named were Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Georgia Tech, doctor of laws; Harold Hirsch, Atlanta, doctor of literature; Catherine Dozier, Gainesville, doctor of pedagogy; Professor A. G. Cleveland, Valdosta, doctor of pedagogy; Professor A. H. Patterson, University of North Carolina, doctor of science; Rev. J. Walter Hendrick, Atlanta, doctor of divinity; Dr. Frank C. Morgan, Augusta, doctor of divinity; Rev. David Wright, Savannah, doctor of divinity.

The board devoted most of its afternoon session to hearing reports from various university departments. It will consider promotions and appointments tomorrow.

ALUMNI PLEDGE LAW BUILDING FUND.

Athens, Ga., June 13.—(AP)—Resolutions pledging a fund for a suitable law building provided the law school is reorganized along prescribed lines, and calling for a joint committee to investigate and recommend "remedial measures necessary to proper development of the university," were adopted here today by an informal meeting of 20 alumni of the University of Georgia.

They will be presented to the alumni society at its meeting tomorrow.

2 Men Arrested; 2 Others Sought In Flogging Case

1 DIES, 10 HURT AT CELEBRATION

New York, June 13.—(AP)—One young woman dropped dead, a score of persons were injured in traffic accidents, nearly 100 adults and children were overcome by heat, and at least 1,000 others required restorative treatment of a minor but emergency nature in the great mass of humanity that jammed the streets when Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh was welcomed to New York today.

More than 13,000 police and reserves were called on to stem the tide of the pressing mob and oftentimes were compelled to use force.

Miss Millie Smith, 23 years old, succumbed to heart disease induced by the excitement of the celebration while watching the parade from the roof of an office building.

As the parade moved from The Battery to city hall, 18 women, 5 men and 6 children fainted. Many of them had been standing along the curb for several hours in the scorching sun.

W. J. Acree and T. R. Lowery Out on Bond After Denying Part in Whipping Woman.

Toccoa, Ga., June 13.—(Special).—W. J. Acree, principal of the high school at Eastonelle, seven miles from Toccoa, and T. R. Lowery, foreman of a local furniture factory, two of four men sought in the flagging Sunday morning of Mrs. Ansley Bowers and her son, Floyd, were arrested today on warrants charging their participation in the whipping.

Taken before a justice of the peace, the two were released on $300 bond after denying emphatically that they were members of the hooded band of 12 men. Both of the men arrested were quoted as declaring that they knew nothing of the affair.

The other two men sought by Sheriff F. A. Stowe in connection with the affair are Elmer Clark, a railroad conductor, and Charles Thomas, an employee of a railroad. Sheriff Stowe said he expected them to be arrested tomorrow.

The sheriff said that Acree and Lowery will probably be arraigned at a preliminary hearing at a date to be set later when the extent of Mrs. Bowers' injuries is determined. Should they waive formal hearing, he said, their cases will be presented to the grand jury, which meets here July 4. Public sentiment in Toccoa flamed

LOVETT HEARING SET FOR JUNE 20

Little Rock, Ark., June 13.—(AP)—Hearing on the application of Georgia officials for extradition of Ralph Lovett from Arkansas, wanted in Atlanta to answer charges in connection with the slaying of Bert Donaldson, special investigator, last July, has been set for Monday, June 20. Lovett was taken into custody at Lake Village, Ark., more than two months ago and is at present at liberty under bond.

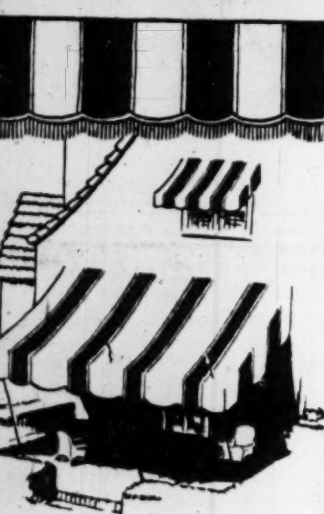

Either John A. Boykin, solicitor general, or Ed A. Stephens, assistant to the solicitor, will go to Little Rock within the next week to press Georgia's claim to Lovett, under indictment for complicity in the murder of Bert Donaldson, special investigator from the solicitor's office, according to a statement issued Monday night by Mr. Stephens.

If the hearing results favorably to local authorities, Lovett will be immediately returned to stand early trial for his alleged part in the slaying of Lance, so-called ringleader of the 11 men under indictment for the slaying, has been convicted and sentenced to death in the electric chair. He is awaiting hearing on June 23, on motions for a new trial.

Man Shot by Negro.
Birmingham, Ala., June 13.—(AP)—J. H. Johnson, 22, was in a critical condition today as a result of a bullet wound in the abdomen received last night when he was fired on by an unidentified negro as he was about to enter his home. Police could give no reason for the shooting.

Everyone Has Equal Chance To Win in 'Right-Ad' Contest

Readers are protected against unfair competition in The Constitution's $10,000 Amateur Ad-Writing contest, newspaper employees and professional ad-writers being ineligible. Letters, slogans, poems, phrases and the like are judged solely on the merits of the selling thoughts they express, not on technical considerations.

The same chance is given those competing for the special prizes, which are listed below. These special prizes will be awarded at the close of the contest in addition to the $10,000 in cash and prizes being given away by The Constitution. The grand cash prize of $300, $200, $100 and $50 will also be awarded at the close of the contest, just 20 days hence.

Winners of the $50 cash and 120 weekly merchandise prizes for the last week will be announced Wednesday or Thursday. The same number of prizes will be awarded next Monday.

To give your ideas a chance in this contest, simply read the rules below and mail your entry to the "Right-Ad" editor of The Constitution.

Tips for contestants follow:

Because we eat such quantities of bread, and because we have for years expected it to appear on any well-balanced menu, we are inclined to accept it as a part of our daily routine; it is in fact so much an element of our lives that we never stop to wonder whether eating an inferior quality of bread stuff.

Just a little thought on this matter of flour, its quality, nature, and correct use would change this habit into a joy. It is possible for people other than epicures to delight in each sort and such chic style these dresses combine. Women should find it easy to write a prize-winning ad after seeing these styles.

Have you tried for the $25 cash special prize offered by the Sophie Mae Candy Co.? This prize will be awarded at the close of the contest, so you have 20 days in which to submit a number of entries.

All you have to do to try for this prize is write an article describing the "Superb" package, stating why you consider it the highest value on the market and naming its three best pieces. Just tell which pieces you like the best so the Sophie Mae Candy company will know which pieces of its candy are favorites of the greatest number of people.

Two Men Arrested; Two Others Sought

In resentment over the flogging, leading citizens declaring, when interviewed, that the whipping of Mrs. Bowers was the seventh that had taken place in this vicinity during the past four weeks, four of the victims having been women.

Warrants Sworn Out.
Warrants against the four men were sworn out by Floyd Bowers, 15-year-old son of Mrs. Ansley Bowers, who was also whipped by the masked band. Mrs. Bowers Monday was lying in a hospital at Gainesville, suffering severely from bruises and lacerations. Her son, who is 15 years old, was whipped by the masked band because he "sassed" them, according to testimony submitted before Winston Owen, justice of the peace, in whose court the warrants were issued.

According to the story told by young Bowers the men whipped his mother because they said "she was of bad character." Mrs. Bowers herself, in a statement made in the hospital at Gainesville, stated that the whipping was administered because of "a false report circulated against her."

The masked band boldly entered the heart of the town of Toccoa and took Mrs. Bowers and her son from their residence, which is located near the public square. They were placed in automobiles and were taken to a lonely spot near Toccoa where the woman was brutally beaten and later the son was whipped severely.

Bowers Separated.
According to police of Toccoa Mrs. Bowers and her husband have been separated for about two years. They stated that the husband has been contributing to the support of his wife. Mrs. Bowers is about 38 years old and moved to Toccoa with her husband about four years ago. Her husband is an employee of a railroad.

The warrants for the arrest of the four men were sworn out before the justice of the peace by Floyd Bowers and it was stated that both the boy and his mother were able to identify the four men named in the warrants.

In Toccoa there is strong condemnation of the flogging according to some leading citizens interviewed. They declared that the whipping today is the seventh that has taken place in this vicinity in the past month.

Recently Assistant Attorney General T. R. Gress received a letter from a woman who lives in Toccoa in which she stated that a masked band had whipped her mother recently and had threatened to whip her if she took any action. Mr. Gress said he wrote the woman and advised her to place her case before the solicitor general of the circuit. The letter was misplaced by the assistant attorney general and he was unable to furnish the name of the woman who had written him.

Inquiry was made at the office of Governor Walker as to whether he would make an investigation of the gross mistreatment of Mrs. Bowers and attempt to discover the members of the masked band and if he would offer a reward for their apprehension. The governor's secretary stated that Governor Walker is out of the city and will not return until Thursday and until his return the office did not know what action he would take.

Reports from Gainesville were to the effect that physicians attending Mrs. Bowers have stated that her condition is satisfactory and that she will recover unless complications develop. She was more severely whipped than her son.

After the flogging Mrs. Bowers and her son were left at the lonely spot on the road near Toccoa. Mrs. Bowers was unconscious but her son was able to walk to a nearby house where assistance was procured and Mrs. Bowers was brought to Toccoa. After an examination by physicians, she was taken to the hospital at Gainesville.

Seven Feel Lash.
The three colored women who have been taken out and given a sentence of "the law of the masked mob" have all been taken out after midnight. One of the victims was a girl under 20 years of age who lives here with her father. The other two live in the heart of the town. Mrs. Bowers' home is adjacent to the courthouse.

SEVEN HAVE FELT MARAUDER'S LASH.
Toccoa, Ga., June 13.—(AP)—With the flogging here yesterday of Mrs. Ansley Bowers, and her 14-year-old son, Floyd, by a hooded and white-robed mob, the total has been raised to seven who have felt the lash of the hooded marauders in this vicinity within the past four weeks. Four women, two men and one boy have been forcibly taken from their homes in the hours past midnight by these hooded mobs, and carried out into the country and whipped with a heavy leather thong and left lying and bleeding on the ground to make their way back to their homes the best way they could.

GOTHAM APPLAUDS LINDY'S MOTHER

ly, it seemed. She stood for a moment near her son.

Before her were the stands, swirling with color, and back of them loomed the great skyscrapers of Manhattan, some almost concealed in the blizzard of paper streamers and confetti.

Viewing the great spectacle for the fraction of a second, she bowed. A half smile, a timid whisper of a smile, played across her lips. She waved a gloved hand and sat down. The crowd roared its approval and the son, proud of her, beamed.

Mrs. Lindbergh arrived in New York from Washington at 8:05 a. m. traveling in a private car, she was received by Major William F. Deegan, for the mayor's committee, and then was driven to the apartment of Harry H. Frazee at 270 Park avenue, where she and her son are to live while in New York.

Parries Questions.
There the reporters found her. If they had hoped to overwhelm her reserve by their numbers or their persistence they were disappointed. She smiled at them and then parried their questions.

Would she like to fly with her son, they asked. Well, she had flown with him a good many times but hadn't hoped across the Atlantic. Could she pilot a plane? Yes, she could, but not very well. Had she wanted her Charles to become an aviator or had she made other plans for him during his boyhood. As for that—well, they had better ask him. Did she want to fly to San Diego with him? She hadn't been asked. Did he bring her anything from Europe? If he had she hadn't seen it.

And then—

"Will the historic flight of your son have any effect on your teaching plans?"

"I have signed my contract," replied this unassuming mother. The interview was over.

Drives To City Hall.
Resting for an hour or so in the apartment, Mrs. Lindbergh was joined by Mrs. Walker, wife of the mayor, and the two drove to city hall.

"It's Lindy's mother," the crowd decided as the automobile bearing the two women turned out of Broadway into City Hall Plaza. And a great cheer went up as Mrs. Lindbergh, a bit bewildered, it seemed by the magnitude of it all, alighted bearing a big bunch of American beauty roses.

Taking Mrs. Lindbergh from the crowd before it had had more than a glimpse of her, Mrs. Walker led the way into the hall where the aviator's mother was presented to the mayor. She remained in his office, chatting and resting, until it was time to start for The Battery.

The throng on Bowling Green gave her a prolonged cheer, too. As she turned to look back at the Broadway canyon, smothered in hunting and ticker tape, the realization of what might come to her, she said:

"This is simply wonderful—marvelous! I cannot express my appreciation."

"It's Lindy's mother," the crowd decided as the automobile bearing the two women turned out of Broadway into City Hall Plaza. And a great cheer went up as Mrs. Lindbergh, a bit bewildered, it seemed by the magnitude of it all, alighted bearing a big bunch of American beauty roses.

Taking Mrs. Lindbergh from the crowd before it had had more than a glimpse of her, Mrs. Walker led the way into the hall where the aviator's mother was presented to the mayor. She remained in his office, chatting and resting, until it was time to start for The Battery.

The throng on Bowling Green gave her a prolonged cheer, too. As she turned to look back at the Broadway canyon, smothered in hunting and ticker tape, the realization of what might come to her, she said:

"This is simply wonderful—marvelous! I cannot express my appreciation."

Many Atlantans have contributed to a campaign to raise $10,000 to clear the Holmes institute, a colored school, of debt and equip the industrial department. But appeal has been made to carry on the work by Claude D. Rowe, assistant chairman of the campaign committee. Contributions may be sent to Holmes institute, 411 Hilliard street, or call Ivy 2251.

Children Play Simple Melodies in 2 or 3 Lessons By Wonderful New Method

Store Studio Classes Forming Every Day PRACTICE HOURS FROM 3:30 TO 5:30 P. M.

WHEN piano is taught the Melody Way there are no dull scales and exercises. The children work with real music folk songs and singing games right from the beginning. Many actually learn to play simple melodies in two or three lessons. It's fascinating, never tedious. Children can hardly wait to get to the classroom. Parents are astonished and delighted at the swift progress their children make.

The Meissner "Melody Way" has created a sensation in musical circles. Within five years it has been adopted by the public schools of more than two hundred cities from coast to coast.

No piano needed at home. Our store studio plan brings the "Melody Way" within reach of every Atlanta child. Well-known local teachers, trained to teach the "Melody Way," are organizing new classes in our store every day. Enroll now.

ATTENTION, ADULTS!

HEALTH CONDITIONS GOOD IN FLOYD

Rome, Ga., June 13.—(Special).—The health report for the month of May, compiled recently at the office of Dr. B. V. Elmore, county health commissioner, shows general health conditions in Rome and Floyd county to be better than in recent months. The reports shows that 1,065 callers were at the office during the month, 817 of them coming for treatment. Forty-nine house calls were made by the health officer and 14 boys given physical examinations for the citizens military training camps. Fifty-nine people were vaccinated and 949 given typhoid inoculation.

Mrs. Hamilton Douglas Awarded Degree by Rockford College

Mrs. Hamilton Douglas, distinguished Atlantan, who was awarded honorary master of arts degree at Rockford college, Rockford, Ill., of which she is a graduate.

As a fitting tribute to a superior intellect and as a climax to a life of service and usefulness, Mrs. Hamilton Douglas was awarded an honorary Master of Arts degree by Rockford college, Rockford, Ill., Monday evening, June 13. The award is a distinction honor to one of Rockford's most prominent graduates and one of Atlanta's most beloved women.

Mrs. Douglas, the former Miss Corine Williams, was born in Wyandott, Iowa, graduating from Rockford college in 1880. She received a degree in law from the University of Michigan in 1887 and came to Atlanta the same year, where she immediately launched upon a purposeful career in the interest of higher education for women.

It was through her efforts that in 1888 the Atlanta board of education established a commercial high school for girls, of which she was the first principal. She planned the curriculum, which, beginning with a two-year high school course, was later increased to three years. Shortland, typewriting and bookkeeping were substituted for the courses in Latin and French.

Needs Literary Background. It is particularly interesting that such a school should have been planned primarily for girls, this being the first high school in the country that could be called a commercial high school. Mrs. Douglas projected her plan along the idea that a girl who was forced to go into business early in life needed something of a literary background.

From a group of four graduates in 1890, this school, Mrs. Douglas to a graduating class of more than a hundred. Twelve years ago boys were admitted to the school for the first time, and under the capable direction of Mrs. Annie T. Wise, as principal, who began her career as teacher under the instruction of Mrs. Douglas, the institution has developed large numbers of potential business men and women.

Realizing the urgent need of women for the broadening influence of a literary background, Mrs. Douglas took an active part in reorganizing the curriculum of the high school along more up-to-date lines. She persuaded the board of education to adopt a universal history in the girls' high school and began the movement that eventually resulted in the establishment of courses in science and advanced mathematics for girls.

Leader in Club Work. Not confining her influence strictly to educational lines, Mrs. Douglas has used her power for good in other fields of endeavor for civic betterment. She purchased the first clubhouse ever owned by women in Atlanta at a cost of $13,000. Beginning a new venture, it was considered an impractical move by the south's conservatives, but that did not daunt the spirit of the presiding genius. The largest single contribution received for the clubhouse was $500, this illustrating the vast amount of work it entailed in the face of discouragement. Later under her direction as chairman of the finance committee this property was sold for $35,000, the amount forming the nucleus of the present plant of the Atlanta Woman's club, valued at $250,000.

As one of Atlanta's foremost citizens, Mrs. Douglas' home life has been exemplary in every respect. As the wife of the late Hamilton Douglas, distinguished Atlanta jurist, she is the mother of five children, four of whom are living. Her daughter, Miss Helen Douglas, ranks as one of the south's most prominent young women lawyers, and she is also the mother of Mrs. William Randolph Smith, Mrs. William Ross, Jr., of Gainesville, and Hamilton Douglas, Jr.

In addition to her other attainments, Mrs. Douglas is a parliamentarian of note and is known as a student of world affairs, keeping abreast of the times by intensive study.

$143,000 SHORTAGE IN OFFICIAL'S BOOKS

Nashville, Tenn., June 13.—(AP).—The shortage discovered in the accounts of Tom Hunter, resigned Hamilton county trustee, is approximately $143,000, deputy state auditors told Commissioner Frank S. Hall today. The detailed report of their findings will be filed this afternoon or in the morning after a redneck. A copy will be sent to the Hamilton county judge.

MOVE MADE TO TAKE CARROLL FROM PEN

Washington, June 13.—(AP)—An appeal to have Earl Carroll, theatrical producer, transferred from the Atlanta penitentiary to a sanitarium was made today to Attorney General Sargent by Representative Sol Bloom, of New York, who was accompanied to the department of justice by James Carroll, brother of the prisoner.

Mr. Bloom told the attorney general that Carroll, who last week began serving a year and a day sentence for perjury growing out of his "bathhouse" party, was in a bad mental state which would be aggravated if kept in prison.

He further said that several of the physicians who examined Carroll while he was a hospital patient at Greenville, S. C., had a different opinion of his mental condition than the interpretation placed on their reports by the department indicated.

Attorney General Sargent was said to have expressed a willingness to get further information from medical experts as to Carroll's condition, and it was indicated that Dr. C. Ed Williams, superintendent of the South Carolina state hospital for the insane, who examined Carroll, might be asked to expand on his report.

JIMMY LEE WALL, FAMOUS COMEDIAN, COMMITS SUICIDE

Lexington, Ky., June 13.—(AP).—Jimmy Lee Wall, 60, black face comedian and minstrel man, committed suicide in his room at a hotel here today by shooting himself in the right temple. His home was in St. Louis, Missouri.

His body was found by a maid who went to clean his room and Coroner J. H. Kerr expressed the opinion that act had been committed only a few minutes before the maid entered the room about noon.

Dr. McCoy, Famous Physician, Traces Source of Disease To Poison in Blood

Natural Mineral Remedy—Called Mineral-Tone—Purifies Blood-Stream, Builds Health.

STOMACH TROUBLE, RHEUMATISM, ECZEMA QUICKLY RELIEVED

Writing a series of noteworthy articles on health, copyright by The Atlanta Constitution, Dr. Frank McCoy, author of "The Fast Way to Health," and famous physician, states that "Practically all disease develops from a poisoned state of the blood-stream. This fact I will repeat over and over again in these articles." Dr. McCoy confirms once again the statement of prominent physicians that 90% of all diseases originate in the blood, and that by purifying the blood-stream you can get quickly to the cause of your ailments.

No Drugs—No Alcohol.

Mineral-Tone, the famous natural remedy, relieves such terrible afflictions as rheumatism, stomach troubles, boils, eczema and many more, going straight to the seat of the trouble, removing it by removing the cause. Exactly as it comes from the heart of Turkey Mountain, Mineral-Tone needs only to be steeped in boiling water to become a perfect blood purifier and tonic. In every sense, Mineral-Tone is a pure, natural remedy. Nothing is added—no alcohol nor drugs of any kind, and nothing is taken away. It would be almost a sacrifice for man to interfere in any way with the perfect remedy a Divine Providence has supplied from Nature's own laboratories, deep underground.

Mineral-Tone is 75% Iron.

The seemingly miraculous way in which Mineral-Tone relieves suffering is simply explained. Nature has fused together a group of health-giving minerals into a form which is 75% iron. The iron and other minerals get into the blood, drive out the poisons and purify matter which are poisoning your body, and restore the whole system to normal. Health, vitality, and vigor follow the proper use of Mineral-Tone, and numerous

AFTER ONLY TWO WEEKS SINGS PRAISES OF MINERAL-TONE

Textile Worker Gains Weight, Loses Pains and Gas as Natural Remedy Quickly Takes Effect.

"Mineral-Tone has done more to restore me to good health than any medicine I have ever used," is the gripping testimony of Mr. W. G. Marlow, of Chattahoochee, Georgia, worker in the Whittier Mills, after only two weeks' Mineral-Tone treatment.

"For 10 years I have taken every kind of medicine that was ever made, for one of the worst stomach cases in Georgia, but I never got anything to do me as much good as Mineral-Tone. I got so bad I could not eat the things I wanted without spells of cramping, and awful shooting gas pains."

"A friend told me about the wonderful results he had gotten from the Mineral-Tone treatment. I began taking it about two weeks ago, and here I am singing its praises. I have never seen anything like it. I am eating anything I want now. I have gone from 128 to 130 pounds in the two weeks I have been taking Mineral-Tone."

"I hope I can be the means of finding relief for others who are suffering as I suffered."

CHARGES GEORGIA NEGLECTS HEALTH

Startling figures tending to show neglect of the state in providing sufficient funds to care for the tuberculosis sanatorium at Alto were revealed Monday by Dr. T. E. Abernethy, state health officer in charge of the department of public health.

The sum of $500,000 last year was appropriated for the purpose of enlarging and modernizing the Alto sanatorium, the money to be derived from part of the state tobacco tax. This work has been completed and the plant at Alto is in splendid condition, the report shows. However, no money has been appropriated to care for the increased maintenance expense of the enlarged building and for that reason the department of public health cannot put the new facilities for the care of tuberculosis into operation. The new building, according to Dr. Abernethy, is standing unoccupied and the department has a long waiting list of persons suffering from tuberculosis asking for admission for treatment.

Dr. Abernethy declared that "the sanatorium now has a total of 240 available beds, 150 for white patients and 90 for negroes, but the present $100,000 annual maintenance appropriation will only provide for a maximum of 100 patients. There were in the institution, and on the waiting list, on March 24, 1927, 204 white patients, 54 more than the present bed capacity for whites and 104 more than the present total appropriation will care for."

There is much suffering in the state among the negroes on account of tuberculosis, but at present the state sanatorium cannot care for any of them through lack of money. It is the plan to put the white patients in the new building and turn the old one over to negroes as soon as funds can be obtained. It is estimated that the lowest amount at which both the white and colored divisions can be run at full capacity is $210,000 annually. The legislature will be asked for that amount this summer. This is a rise of $110,000 over the present fund.

Further attention was called to the very small amount that Georgia annually spends on public health work. A table of yearly per capita expenditures in Georgia was pointed out, which illustrates the extent to which the department is being starved. The per capita expenditures for various purposes are as follows: Highways, $30; education, $10.62; police protection, $3.66; fire protection, $2.57; charities and hospitals, $2.08; amusements, 88 cents; and public health, 3 cents. Against this 3 cents that Georgia gives for public health, Florida gives 20 cents, North Carolina 15 cents, South Carolina 8 cents, Alabama 5 cents and Tennessee 5 cents.

COOLER WEATHER WITH SHOWERS LIKELY TODAY

Murky skies, accompanied by a slight drop in temperatures and possible showers in the late afternoon, today's forecast for Atlanta and vicinity, according to C. F. von Herrmann, meteorologist of the government weather bureau.

The mercury Monday covered a range of 19 degrees, beginning its ascent at the 50-degree mark and registering a high of 80 degrees. Moderate relief from the warm weather is scheduled for today with the mercury predicted to fluctuate between 60 and 80 degrees. With the clouds continuing overhead the humidity will maintain its high average and some precipitation will probably fall in the afternoon, the weatherman stated.

"Continued light rains of the past week have not been sufficient to bring the rainfall average of this month up to normal," Von Herrmann asserted. "The monthly deficiency to date is approximately one inch. The precipitation for the whole season is so far behind the normal that nothing short of a Mississippi flood in this section could restore the average."

DE VALERA PARTY AND GOVERNMENT RUN CLOSE RACE

Dublin, Ireland, June 13.—(AP)—Of the 132 seats in the Dail Eireann election returns for 116 have been tabulated. The government party leads thus far by one, with the Fianna Fail, the De Valera wing of the republicans, almost keeping pace. The standing of the parties tonight is: Government, 35; Fianna Fail, 34; labor, 20; independents, 10; farmers, 7; National league, 6; Sinn Fein, 4. Patrick Hogan, minister of agriculture, and Finian Lynch, minister of fisheries, have been elected in Galway and Kerry, respectively.

Despite the close struggle between the government and the Fianna Fail, there is still an overwhelming majority for the treaty and the constitution. Most of the De Valera victories were gained at the expense of the Sinn Fein, of whose 15 candidates only four have thus far been successful.

MAYOR TO SPEAK AT RETAIL FOOD DEALERS' MEETING

With Mayor I. N. Ragsdale and former officers of the Atlanta Retail Food Dealers' association as principal speakers, a meeting of the association will be held tonight at 7 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce building.

A buffet dinner will be served at 7 o'clock, after which a special program featuring short talks by former officers of the association will be held.

A. J. Elliott, president of the association, will have charge of the meeting and will make the address of welcome.

In addition to the speaking program, plans for a reunion to be held at an early date will be discussed by the members. Among those who will take part in the speaking program are C. J. Kamper, I. S. Mitchell, Sr., G. S. Prior, W. S. Ivey, R. A. Broyles, A. C. Minniet, C. A. Tappan, T. L. McAndrews, Cator Woolford, H. O. Reese, J. H. Bullock, F. E. Kamper, George H. Sims, Steve Glass, W. P. FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR H. R. TURNER

Funeral services for Harvey R. Turner, a former newspaper molder of Atlanta, who died in Memphis Saturday as the result of gunshot wounds received in an altercation in Memphis Thursday, were held Monday afternoon from the chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son, Dean Thomas H. Johnston, officiating and interment was in West View cemetery.

Mr. Turner had lived in Memphis for the past four years and had worked in the mailing department of several southern newspapers. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. M. E. Turner, and two sisters, Mrs. Theo. Goulet and Mrs. F. W. Rose, of Miami, Fla.

DR. DODGE REPORTED AS MUCH IMPROVED

Rev. D. W. Dodson, pastor of the Central Congregation church, who was taken suddenly ill Sunday morning while conducting services at his church, was reported to be much better Monday night by his wife. He was taken immediately after the sudden illness to his home on Albanian road and no news of his family reported Monday night that he rested well Sunday night and during the day Monday.

W. J. NALLEY FUNERAL TO BE HELD TODAY

Funeral services for William J. Nalley, well-known civil engineer who died Sunday night at the residence, 616 Highland avenue, after an illness of three months, will be held at 11 o'clock this morning from the chapel of Barclay & Brandon. The Rev. H.

B. Mays, assisted by the Rev. T. R. Kendall, will officiate, and interment will be in West View cemetery.

Mr. Nalley was born in Carroll county, in 1868, the eldest son of the late William H. and Louisa Nalley. After completion of his earlier education at Bowden college, he was among the first to enter the Georgia School of Technology, graduating four years later with honors. He established his business interests in Atlanta and took a prominent part in the affairs of his alma mater and in civic events. A man of unusual ability and lovable traits of character, Mr.

Nalley had endeared himself to a large circle of friends and business associates.

In 1903 he was married to Miss Daisy Lyle, daughter of the late Rev. Lee McCleskey Lyle, of the Baltimore, Maryland and North Georgia conferences. He is survived by his wife, four brothers, Lawton Nalley and Gordon Nalley, of Atlanta; H. W. Nalley, of Atlanta, Ga., and S. T. Nalley, of Villa Rica, Ga., and two sisters, Miss Drucilla Nalley, of Villa Rica, and Mrs. C. R. Ayers, of Dallas, Texas.

TRIAL OF HAMMOND WILL START TODAY

After several continuances, the trial of Harold Hammond, charged with the murders of Mrs. Lottie Bell Ingram and her infant son, Floyd, will get under way at 9 o'clock this morning in Judge G. H. Howard's division of Fulton superior court. The case was called Monday shortly afternoon and both defense and state counsel announced ready. Upon agreement, a special order was signed declaring the case on trial at 9 o'clock today.

The state will be represented by Assistant Solicitor Ed. A. Stephens, while Carl Lancaster, Atlanta attorney, will defend Hammond. The bodies of Mrs. Ingram and her infant son were found in a bed in the Ingram home on Ashby street by the husband and father upon his return from work as night watchman at a local cotton mill. Mrs. Ingram had been beaten to death with a flatiron and the infant was strangled, a black strip of cloth being tightly wound around the neck.

Since his arrest Hammond has emphatically denied any connection with the double slaying, and says that he was not in the vicinity of the Ingram home on the night of the murders.

School Board to Settle Budget Row and Ritchie-Hancock Argument Today

Assistant Superintendent Denies Usurping Authority in Ordering $6,500 Drawings.

Adoption of a budget for operation of Atlanta schools for the remainder of 1927; settlement of a controversy between R. R. Ritchie, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of business affairs, and Will L. Hancock, chairman of the school board, are the two items on the agenda of the board of education today.

The board of education today will consider the $6,500,000 bond fund contained in the $8,000,000 bond issue today adopted by the board of education. The board of education today will also consider the $6,500,000 bond fund contained in the $8,000,000 bond issue today adopted by the board of education.

The outstanding feature of the new budget is that it provides for operation of the schools for a full 26 weeks instead of 22 as recommended by the board and the administration department of the school system, to solve financial difficulties of the school department. It was adopted at the joint conference Monday night as a compromise agreement, and will be offered to the board this afternoon with a favorable recommendation of both groups.

Incident to a statement issued Sunday by Mr. Hancock that something to curb the authority of Mr. Ritchie must be done by the board, the latter Monday issued a lengthy statement in which he denied that he has usurped or exceeded his authority, and directed attention to the alleged impatience of Mr. Hancock to proceed with plans row in connection with commencement week at the university. Passage of the law school resolution was coincident with the submission of a report by the university's board of visitors to the board of trustees, which recommended that necessary steps be taken at the earliest possible moment to put this department (the law school) at least on a par with leading law schools in the south.

The board of visitors, which rendered its report after a week of study of conditions at the school, also recommended increased maintenance funds, an increase in the salary scale of faculty members, additional dormitory space for both men and women students, a new physical building and other building improvements and an increase in the teaching force of the extension department.

Congratulations were extended Chancellor Charles M. Snelling and Dean S. V. Sanford for their accomplishment in securing the $75,000 for the law building fund was subscribed, contingent upon acceptance of the proposal by the full society and the university board of trustees.

The board, appointed by Governor Walker, was composed of J. E. Parks, W. E. Denny, J. Henry Walker and J. W. Griffith. Today's meeting of alumni was called by Federal Judge William H. Barrett, of Augusta, president of the society, "for the purpose of determining the agenda of the regular meeting of the society, to be held at the university on Tuesday, June 14, 1927, for the law building fund was subscribed, contingent upon acceptance of the proposal by the full society and the university board of trustees."

The law school resolution follows: "Resolved, That this society pledges itself to raise in the near future a sufficient fund to erect on the campus a suitable building for the law school of our university provided, however, and on the express condition that such law school shall be promptly so organized that at its head shall be a trained and experienced legal educator with full power to nominate his faculty subject to confirmation by the trustees and to determine the curricula and that such school shall be so planned as to qualify in the future as a class 'A' school."

"Provided further that no subscription made in pursuance of this resolution shall be of force until the board of managers of the society shall, by formal action, have declared that the foregoing conditions have been complied with and that sufficient subscriptions have been made to complete the proposed building."

"Provided further that in all such matters, such board of managers shall cordially and actively cooperate with the board of trustees of the university."

The investigating committee resolution said: "Whereas, the prevailing opinion among the friends and alumni of our university is that in order to assure its proper development, some remedial measures are necessary; and whereas the alumni are keenly anxious to help to this end, and:

"Now, therefore, be it resolved that the trustees of our university be requested to appoint promptly from their body a committee of five and the incoming president of this society appoint from the alumni a committee of five to unite in forming one committee for the purpose of making such investigations and recommendations as will best promote the interest of our university; that such joint committee shall promptly convene upon the call of the chairman of the respective committees or of a majority of the members of the joint committee; that no member shall be appointed on either of such committees unless he shall agree to devote a reasonable time to such work; and that a copy of this resolution be forthwith transmitted to the board of trustees of our university."

Addressing the board of trustees this afternoon, Governor-elect L. G. Hardman advocated quarterly physical examinations of students following the one in the fall.

President Andrew M. Soule, of the college of agriculture, outlined the activities of the college to the board at its invitation.

Alumni Day. Tomorrow is "alumni day" at the university and scores of old graduates will be here for class reunions and other exercises of the day. Dr. Ulric B. Phillips, professor of history at the University of Michigan, will deliver the alumni address at noon, following the alumni society's business session and followed by the annual luncheon in Denmark hall. The exercises will be entertained at dinner tomorrow night, preceding the chancellor's reception and dance.

LAGRANGE MAN NAMED ON BOARD. Athens, Ga., June 13.—(AP)—The appointment of T. T. Moon, of Lagrange, as a member of the board of trustees of the University of Georgia, succeeding A. S. ing released from their cells for exercise in the "bull pen" when they seized a guard, from whom they took the key to the cell holding Charles Duschowski and Robert Torres.

Torres started to go with the others but returned to his cell and sat down while his comrades in the other two desperate breaks left him for their third.

The slayers hurried to the jail office on the first floor and opened the lockers where the arms and ammunition were kept, taking a rifle, a shot gun and a pistol. Seizing the keys that opened the side door to the jail, they fled to the sheriff's residence, the men encountered Sheriff Albert E. Markgraf.

Meet Sheriff. "Come on, sheriff," Staleski said. "I want to see anyone and don't make me shoot you."

Mrs. Markgraf, who saw the attempt to escape from a window of her home, rushed to the door and her husband, trying to push the convicts back. She was brushed out of the way, and fainting. Meanwhile the alarm had spread.

Dragging the sheriff with them the four men succeeded in crossing the yard to where Markgraf's automobile was parked.

Staleski forced the sheriff into the driver's seat, with a pistol pressed against the sheriff's side. Rizzo and Duschowski climbed into the rear seat.

Police arrived just as the sheriff was being forced into the automobile. Fearing they might shoot the sheriff, as the convicts used him as a shield, they withheld their fire. The policemen ran to the front of the jail and brought the guards to the back gate.

automobile and found its mark between Staleski's shoulder blades. He slumped just as a hail of bullets hit the car, the gunfire firing from either side, but carefully miss the sheriff.

Nevertheless the sheriff tonight pointed to bullet holes in his hat as evidence of the narrowness of his escape.

After the second crash of gunfire Duschowski, Schrader and Rizzo lifted their hands in surrender, and the sheriff signalled to the guards to release firing. He reached into the back seat and collared Schrader and Rizzo. Other hands snatched Duschowski and Staleski from the machine and the four were hauled back to the stockade, but not before 200 men tried to seize them and lynch them.

Duschowski, who still showed a willingness to fight, was severely maulled before he was subdued and rescued from the crowd by other guards.

In the excitement Schrader and Rizzo escaped again. Rizzo tried to fight his way out in a final desperate bid for freedom. Leo Land, sheriff's firing from a window in the sheriff's home, sent a pistol bullet through Rizzo's head, at the same time E. A. O'Neill, motorcycle policeman, sent a bullet into his body. O'Neill stood upon the scaffold as he fired.

Schrader had better luck and lost himself in the crowd. He was not missed until Staleski, Duschowski and Rizzo had been taken back into the jail.

It first was believed he had gone to the roof to hide until darkness, but a search proved he was not there. Rizzo never regained consciousness and died within an hour. Staleski, who was very weak from loss of blood and prison physicians expressed "fear" for his life.

Hammond, Ind., Tuesday afternoon the train will halt for two hours while the president dedicates a war memorial at Wicker park. At Pierre, S. D., it will stop for half an hour Wednesday morning while state officials extend their welcome.

Postmaster General New will leave the party at Hammond. Wednesday noon the presidential special will enter the borders of the old-time west, the storied land of Indians and two-gun bad men. At night the train is scheduled to arrive in Rapid City. From there on the remainder of the journey will be made by automobile, 32 miles over mountain roads to the state game lodge, which is to be the summer white house.

Residents of Rapid City have arranged a rousing reception for the president. Cowboys and cowgirls will be in evidence with a picked escort of horsemen to accompany the presidential party through the foot hills.

At the summer white house, President and Mrs. Coolidge will find a 35-room hunting lodge awaiting them, surrounded by forests and streams teeming with wild game and fish.

There the president can rest, walk, hunt or fish without the embarrassment of following crowds. The lodge is 14 miles by air line from the nearest railroad and 32 miles from the nearest town.

Bears and Deer. In the mountains nearby bears and wildcats are not unknown and deer are said to be as thick as cows at a dairy farm. Mountain streams running through the estate are filled with sporty trout calculated to afford ample excitement for the presidential rod and line.

The Coolidge lodge is located 4,400 feet above sea level while the mountain peaks in the background rise to a height of 7,200 feet, the highest land between the Rock mountains and the Alps.

All white house business will be transacted through temporary offices at Rapid City. There the president is scheduled to come twice a week for conferences. The rest of the time, during the three months' vacation, is his own.

TUCSON EDUCATOR NEW PRESIDENT OF CAPITAL U. Washington, June 13.—(AP)—Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, of Tucson, Ariz., was elected president of the George Washington university today to succeed William Mather Lewis. He takes office September 1.

In 1922 Dr. Marvin was elected president of the University of Arizona. Prior to that was assistant to the president of the University of Southern California.

RAYMOND DOCTOR WINS SEPARATE TRIAL IN SLAYING. Los Angeles, June 13.—(AP)—Dr. Walter J. Sullivan, indicted with Dorothy Mackaye on a felony charge as an aftermath of the death last April of the actress' husband, Ray

Raymond, won his fight for a separate trial in superior court here today. Miss Mackaye will go to trial June 16 and Dr. Sullivan June 27.

Dr. Sullivan and Miss Mackaye are charged with having attempted to cover up facts surrounding the death of Raymond two days after he was beaten severely in a fist fight by Paul Kelly, screen juvenile. Kelly is under sentence of one to ten years' imprisonment after conviction on a manslaughter charge for the actor's death.

The court held that the physician, who had no connection with the illicit love between Kelly and the actress, which the state charged led up to the beating, should not be made to suffer possible consequences of testimony introduced against Miss Mackaye.

Dr. Sullivan is said to have been paid $500 by Raymond's wife for treating the actor two days in the hospital.

Central of Georgia Railway Discusses Service Offered by the Railroads to the Summer Traveler.

A summer vacation is no longer looked upon as a luxury for the rich. Within the past few years the importance and the real value of a period of rest and recreation during the heat of summer have become generally recognized, and the summer vacation is now regarded as a necessity for the working man or woman even more than as an indulgence of the wealthy.

The Central of Georgia Railway offers its service to the summer vacationer. In connection with other lines it provides through service to all parts of the country—to lake, mountain or seashore resorts affording opportunities for rest and healthful recreation or to the large cities offering opportunities for change of scene and the education that comes from travel.

As a means of encouraging tourist travel, the Central of Georgia offers special attractions to the summer vacationer. Summer excursion fares are put into effect, permitting travel at greatly reduced rates during the period from May 15th through October 31st. There are also reduced rates for circle tours, whereby the traveler can go by one route and return by another. Combination rail and water trips at low fares may also be enjoyed. Stop over privileges at points en route are allowed on these tickets.

For week-end and Sunday trips to nearby points, even lower rates are made, permitting the railroad patron to visit friends or relatives at a minimum of expense.

In addition to these, there are special excursions operated by the railroad at different times during the summer. These excursions enjoy a large patronage from vacation travelers and tickets are sold at very low rates.

The matter of time consumed is important to the average vacationer. Delays to trains can cause missed connections or other annoyances, resulting in irritation that may spoil the entire vacation. The Central of Georgia is proud of its On Time record. Last year, out of every 100 passenger trains operated by this railroad, 96 were handled on time.

The matter of safety is another factor of prime importance to the vacation traveler, particularly to the man of family. There is no other method of getting people from place to place that is nearly so safe as the railroad. There has been no passenger fatality on the Central of Georgia in the past four and one-half years, during which time more than fourteen million passengers have been safely handled by this railroad. The equipment, operating personnel and on time record of Central of Georgia through passenger trains are not surpassed for safety, comfort and convenience by any of the famous passenger trains serving other sections.

The Central of Georgia, in connection with the Ocean Steamship Company, serves the summer traveler with a fleet of thoroughly modern steamships with three sailings weekly from Savannah to New York and two to Boston. Summer is the ideal time for an ocean trip. The weather is generally fair and the sea almost invariably smooth. The inland dweller sometimes regards a sea trip as hazardous, but in the seventy-nine years the Ocean Steamship Company has been in operation not a passenger fatality has occurred, although many millions of passengers have been handled. Reduced excursion fares are also available for the traveler using steamship service, tickets including meals and berth aboard ship without extra cost.

The Central of Georgia is anxious to serve the summer traveler, and at this season, the principal activities of its Passenger Traffic Department are directed to that end. Its ticket agents, passenger representatives, and all other officers and employees are ready and willing to serve and assist both the experienced and the inexperienced traveler. The ticket agent's service is not limited to selling a ticket or telling when the next train will leave. He can wire ahead for sleeping car or steamship reservations. He can recommend best routes to travel, quote train schedules or sleeping car lines of his own and connecting roads, or can aid in planning extended trips. He has, or can quickly obtain, almost any information the traveler may need. His services are at the command of the traveling public.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited

Constitution Insurance Vital Vacation Necessity

Hot weather means vacation time. Perhaps you're planning to take that annual trip to the mountains or the seashore this month, or in July or August.

In making your plans, don't forget one very vital thing—insurance protection. There's danger in motor rides or train journeys—danger you read about every day after it has materialized in the form of accidents.

Think of your own pleasure, but don't fail to provide for the future security and comfort of your wife and children, those who are dependent on you. Remember this:

The Constitution offers you the famous $7,500 travel accident policy issued by the North American Insurance company, of Chicago, old and reliable concern which already has paid more than $200,000 in claims of Constitution policyholders.

The policy provides for payment of sums ranging downward from $7,500 in case of death resulting from certain accidents; heavy cash payment for permanent injuries, and $10 weekly indemnity for disability resulting from the stated accidents.

The cost is only $1.25 per year, a fraction of a penny a day.

A train wreck, a crash of automobiles, the speeding wheels of an on-rushing car or a burning building may leave you a victim of the ever-growing wave of accidents today.

In this paper appear regular advertisements supplying full details of the great offer. Watch for them.

This $7,500 travel, $2,000 auto and $1,000 permanent disability policy is issued only to subscribers of The Daily and Sunday Constitution and immediate dependent members of a subscriber's family between the ages of 15 and 70 at $1.25 per policy per year.

One who is now taking The Daily and Sunday Constitution or will subscribe for same through carrier in Atlanta or suburbs through an out-of-town carrier or dealer, paying for the paper weekly, monthly or otherwise, is a subscriber and is eligible.

Those taking The Daily and Sunday Constitution by mail, either through a postoffice or rural route delivery, for one year, are eligible by paying $1.25 per year per policy above the subscription price.

In sending application for insurance the applicant must state name in full, give age and occupation. If beneficiary is desired, full Christian name must be given and relation of same to the insured.

TRANE COMPANY OPENS BRANCH OFFICE HERE

The Trane company, of La Crosse, Wis., manufacturers of steam specialties, heat cabinets and unit heaters, has established a southern branch office here at 608 Bona Allen building. This company is one of the oldest in the United States and has branch offices all over the world. Its material is sold through jobbers and contractors only.

A local office covers the states of Georgia and Alabama. Floyd E. Baird, formerly heating engineer for Crawford & Slater, of Atlanta, has been appointed branch manager.

High Store Swamped by Thousands Drawn By Ads Appearing Exclusively in Constitution

Part of the tremendous throng which Monday morning waited for the opening of the doors of the J. M. High company store on Whitehall street to buy specially-priced merchandise advertised in four solid pages of Sunday's Constitution, no other newspaper carrying a line of advertisements on the selling event, High's "Progress Sale." Officials of the High company pronounced the throngs that poured all day Monday into the store one of the biggest day's attendance in the history of the concern. The goal set for the sale was exceeded and the sale itself was extended into today in order to take care of persons who were unable to get into the store Monday.

BY LLOYD A. WILHOIT.

The cartoonist who wisecracks about the horrors of bargain sale crowds is as wet as the smart guy whose store of wit is confined to mother-in-law gags.

Monday I saw one of the biggest sale crowds that ever gathered in Atlanta wait patiently until the doors of the J. M. High company opened for the beginning of that concern's "progress sale," though thousands jammed Whitehall street in front of the big department store and congregated like Coxy's army about every other entrance.

And as I watched the orderly throngs, I was impressed with the truth of the statement that the front-page box-writer repeats every day for the benefit of anyone who may not be fully convinced: "Advertising in The Constitution Pays the Advertiser and Saves the Buyer."

High's "progress sale" was sponsored exclusively by Constitution ads. In Sunday's issue of this paper the High store carried four solid pages of bargains listed in the sale. No other paper carried a line of advertising on the big selling event.

The result was that one of the greatest crowds that ever milled good-naturedly into the High store poured in to purchase the attractive merchandise specially priced for the "progress sale," and advertised exclusively in The Constitution.

"Our 'progress sale' drew an enormous crowd," G. C. Jones, vice-president and treasurer of the High company, said Monday night, "and our sales were very large. At this moment we do not know the exact amount of business done in this sale, but we are sure that we have more than reached the goal we set for ourselves."

Thank high praise of The Constitution in getting immediate, cash results, and to the mind of the writer it involves an additional tribute to the high quality combined with low prices which are offered by the High company, to say nothing of the excellent judgment displayed by Constitution readers in reading Constitution advertisements closely and consistently in order to profit in shopping.

Continuing to describe the banner day's sale, Mr. Jones said: "We had a large number of extra salespeople employed for this sale, and still we found it difficult to serve the crowds."

"In fact, so big were the crowds drawn that the High company will extend their 'progress sale' through today to take care of those who were unable to get into the store on account of the size of the mob."

"For the benefit of those who were unable to force their way through the crowds or for any other reason were unable to get what they wanted," Mr. Jones said, "we will continue the sale on Tuesday as long as quantities 'Goal more than reached,' and last."

PRESIDENT TALKS ON SOIL SCIENCE

Washington, June 13.—(AP)—Importance of soil as a fundamental national and international asset was stressed today by President Coolidge in an address before members of the first international congress of soil science.

All mankind is dependent upon the soil, the president declared, and he promised full cooperation of this government in extending research into this field. Moreover, he cautioned that further increases in production in this country must come from increased acre yields instead of from increased acreage.

"Long after our mines have ceased to give up their treasures," Mr. Coolidge said, "the soil must continue to produce the food necessary for feeding the increased populations of the world."

It is highly appropriate, therefore, that representatives of many of the nations of the earth should assemble in groups such as this for the purpose of discussing methods to be employed in the study of the problems of soil conservation and land utilization.

BURGLARS RANSACK HOME OF J. K. ORR, JR.

Taking advantage of the absence of the J. K. Orr, Jr., family from the city during the week-end, burglars entered the home at 78 Peachtree circle by means of a broken front glass and completely ransacked every room in the home, according to police reports.

The burglary was discovered Monday morning by a negro maid, Maude Smith, who lives in the rear of the home, when she went into the house to clean it before members of the family came home. She immediately reported the burglary to police and an investigation was started. Just what was taken by the burglars was not learned by police. Members of the family are expected to return immediately.

FUNERAL SERVICE IS HELD MONDAY FOR J. L. McALLA

Funeral services for James L. McAlla, 76, of 740 Central avenue, who was found dead in his bed at the Central hotel, Conyers, Ga., early Sunday morning, were held Monday afternoon from the chapel of White & Co. Conyers undertakers. The Rev. R. M. Dixon, pastor of the Philadelphia Methodist church, of which Mr. McAlla was a member, officiated. Interment was in the churchyard.

Mr. McAlla was born on the old McAlla plantation about seven miles from Conyers. He remained on the old farm site and farmed until a few years ago when his health began to fail and he moved to Atlanta.

He lived with his sister-in-law, Mrs. Sue J. McAlla, at the Central avenue address.

During the past few years he has been a member of the board of assessors of Rockdale county and was attending to business in that capacity when he succumbed Sunday.

He is survived by three sons, W. Z. McAlla, of Lexington, Ky.; James R. McAlla, of Newnan, Ga.; and Dan H. McAlla, of Atlanta; a daughter, Mrs. G. W. Boyd, of Tate, Ga.; three brothers, M. F. McAlla, and Dr. C. W. McAlla, both of Atlanta, and several grandchildren.

STATE PRISON BOARD TO REORGANIZE SOON

Reorganization of the state prison commission is expected this week with Sam A. Nunn, Perry lawyer, as successor to the late Judge Thomas E. Patterson, it was learned Monday at the capitol. Judge Patterson was buried Saturday at Newnan and Mr. Nunn was appointed Saturday night to fill the vacancy.

The clemency plea of Rutledge Smith, convicted of assault with intent to murder in connection with the shooting of Sheriff A. B. Brown, of Hart county, is one of the most important cases that will come up for consideration in the near future.

The Smith plea was heard on June 9, Solicitor General A. S. Skelton, of the northern circuit; Representative Broadus R. Zellars, of Hart county, and Linton S. Johnson, of Rayston, representing the state and Sheriff Brown, while Smith was represented by Judge George Goppe, of Carnesville, and Representatives R. E. A. Hamby, of Rabun county.

LONGWORTH SAYS SPECIAL SESSION NOW IMPROBABLE

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 13.—(AP)—Speaker Nicholas Longworth of the national house of representatives does not believe it likely there will be a special session of congress "unless something unforeseen should happen." Speaker Longworth made the statement in his office here today. "The United States engineers who are at work on plans for flood prevention in the Mississippi valley," he said, "will hardly be able to report before the regular meeting of congress in December." He appropriates as a committee, which will probably present a bill appropriating funds for the relief of flood sufferers, and the ways and means committee which will submit a revenue bill, have both been organized and will meet probably in the middle of October and will be ready to report immediately upon the assembling of the regular session of congress.

How to get more power

Fill your tank with Crown Ethyl Gasoline. Then drive off and make these tests:

Drive up the worst hill you know. See how you take it in high. Then get on a heavy road. Next swing into congested traffic. You'll notice the steady flow of extra power, the quick pick-up and how much less you have to shift gears.

At the end of your test you will agree that it's worth 3c a gallon more.

CHARTER HEARING SET FOR TODAY

Two important proposed charter amendments are slated for consideration at 2 o'clock this afternoon by the charter revision committee of city council. The session will be held in the mayor's reception hall.

Proposed annexation to the city of territory in the Peachtree road, Peachtree Heights, Druid Hills and Buckhead sections of Fulton and DeKalb counties will be discussed in open meeting. Large delegations favoring and opposing the proposal will appear before the committee.

Councilman John A. White, of the fourth ward, author of the annexation measures, will attempt to secure passage of the papers, while leading residents in the affected areas will oppose coming into the city.

This proposition precipitated a controversy in the last meeting of city council, when the charter revision body brought in an adverse report. Mr. White and other members of council took the floor, and fought so persistently that it was referred to the charter revision body again for consideration.

The second matter slated for discussion will be a proposal to prevent what has been called "indirect tax levies" in form of increased water rates, and proposes that water receipts in the future can be used only for improvements and operation of the water department. Large delegations from civic organizations and business institutions are expected to appear in behalf of the proposal.

Judge Ernest C. Kuntz, leader of anti-city manager charter forces in the recent charter election, will favor its passage. He is credited with having initiated the move to restrict use of water receipts.

Organizations slated to support the paper are delegations from Atlanta Federation of Trades, Atlanta Improvement association, Atlanta Real Estate board, Atlanta Retail Merchants' association, Atlanta Apartment House Owners' association, Atlanta Association of Building Owners and Managers, Atlanta Retail Food Dealers' association, Atlanta Ice Manufacturer, Georgia Manufacturers' association, Journal of Labor, Central Improvement association and Atlanta Merchants' and Manufacturers' association.

MRS. W. F. DORSEY PASSES IN ATHENS

Athens, Ga., June 13.—(Special.)—Mrs. William Francis Dorsey, one of the most widely-known and beloved women in this section of the state, died here today after a long illness. Her passing, while not entirely unexpected brought great sorrow to a wide circle of friends, to whom she had endeared herself through her many beautiful qualities.

The wife of William Francis Dorsey, president of the Dorsey Furniture company, here, Mrs. Dorsey was a dominating figure in the religious and social life of the community.

Mrs. Dorsey, a native of Athens, was, before her marriage, Miss Catherine Beusse, a daughter of Captain and Mrs. Henry Beusse, members of one of the oldest and most distinguished families in this part of the state. Mrs. Dorsey's early girlhood was spent in Athens, where she received her education at Lucy Cobb institute.

Mrs. Dorsey was a member of the First Presbyterian church here, became a leading figure in Athens' religious circles. In addition to her husband, Mrs. Dorsey is survived by two daughters, Mrs. John R. Northcutt, of Athens, and Mrs. J. R. Gray, Jr., of Atlanta; two sisters, Mrs. Alice Adams, of Athens, and Mrs. W. P. Briggs, of Birmingham; two brothers, Captain J. H. Beusse and Henry Beusse, and six grandchildren, Catherine Dorsey Gray, May Emma Gray, J. R. Gray, Jr., Francis Dorsey Northcutt, John R. Northcutt, Jr., and Anne Northcutt.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the residence and interment will follow in the Oconee cemetery. Rev. E. L. Hill, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will officiate.

Pallbearers will be M. G. Michael, C. M. Stelling, Dr. H. M. Fullilove, T. S. Mott, T. W. Row, George Holsen, Dr. T. H. McHatton, O. R. Hobbs and H. J. Rowe.

ATLANTA PLANE, SIMILAR TO LINDY'S, HOPS OFF TODAY

An Atlanta designed and built airplane, similar to the monoplane type of ship used by Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, on his trans-Atlantic flight, will take off at Candler field this afternoon between 3 and 4 o'clock for its initial flight, it was learned Monday afternoon.

The plane is equipped with a 100-horsepower OXX-6 Curtiss motor and will be piloted by Bonnie G. Rowe. The plane was designed by Lieutenant A. C. Caldwell, a former designer with the United States government and with the help of several mechanics was built at Candler field.

NEGROES TO ATTEND BISHOPS' COUNCIL

Leading negro preachers of the A. M. E. church arrived in Atlanta Monday en route from Florida, Arkansas and South Carolina and discussed the affairs of the church and the schools preparatory to attending the bishops' council in Pittsburgh, Pa.

President A. B. Cooper, of Edward Waters college, Jacksonville, and Dr. John H. Lewis, of Morris Brown, spoke freely of their work, saying great caution would have to be used in running the schools in the fall term. Rev. R. A. Grant, pastor of Grant Memorial A. M. E. church, Jacksonville, was also present. He is said to be the leading man of his denomination to be elected one of the bishops at the Chicago general conference. Rev. G. E. Curry, contractor of Jacksonville; Dr. W. R. L. Clarke, of Allen temple, Atlanta; Presiding Elder J. T. Wilkerson, Athens district; Bishop W. A. Fountain, head of the work of the denomination of Alabama; Rev. J. G. Billingsly were all present. Rev. Dr. J. A. Lindsay, the most probable man of the A. M. E. church in Georgia for episcopal honors spoke before the faculty and students of Payne university, Selma, Alabama.

It is not thought that Bishop Elinger, of Georgia, will attend the council in Pittsburgh because of sickness in his family.

Fair Haven Revival.

A large audience heard Dr. Gas W. Washington, of Brooklyn, N. Y., in the first of a series of revival services at the Fair Haven Christian church, on Humphries street, Monday night. Services will continue every night at 7:45 o'clock, with two services Sunday.

TALLULAH MAN DIES OF WOUNDS

Gainesville, Ga., June 13.—(Special.)—Democrat Hunnicutt, 32, died in a local hospital last night from bullet wounds alleged to have been received from a revolver in the hands of Ed Woodall, an employee, at Tallulah Falls, last Saturday.

Woodall was arrested and placed in jail at Clayton, Ga., shortly after the shooting, which occurred in Hunnicutt's barber shop. The incident was said by officers to have followed remonstrance by Hunnicutt that Woodall was not attending to his duties properly. Woodall worked on a farm belonging to Hunnicutt a few miles from Tallulah Falls.

AMENDMENT TO MEET U. S. BUILDING CODE

Twenty-three public buildings for Georgia to be constructed by federal appropriations are being studied upending amendment of the Georgia code so that the federal government may have full jurisdiction over the buildings and grounds, it was learned Monday in a letter received by Governor Walker from McKenzie Moss, assistant secretary of the United States treasury department.

The governor has asked Attorney General George A. Naper to draw up a bill for submission to the coming session of legislature, making the Georgia code comply with federal requirements.

The proposed buildings affected are: The Chestnut King sanatorium, at Atlanta; new postoffice at Augusta, new federal public health hospital at Augusta, and postoffices at Carrollton, Canton, Dawson, Douglas, Eatonton, Fitzgerald, Forsyth, Madison, Monroe, Monticello, Quitman, Roseville, Statesboro, Sandersville, Thompson, Thomasville, Toccoa, Washington, Waynesboro and West Point.

R.F. MADDOX ADDRESSES TRAFFIC CLUB MEETING

Robert F. Maddox, chairman of the board of directors of the Atlanta and Lowry National bank, was principal speaker at the regular monthly luncheon of the Traffic club of Atlanta Monday at the Atlanta Athletic club. Mr. Maddox spoke on the general business conditions in the south.

Following the brief speaking program, plans for an annual all-day outing and picnic were discussed.

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT, BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

Everything a motor car can offer

Beauty Trim, graceful lines; charming proportions; rich Duco colorings; restful, tasteful interiors; upholsteries fine in appearance and in quality; the painstaking, enduring coachcraft of Fisher—Buick combines them all in a car of rare and unusual beauty.

Performance Buick's six-cylinder Valve-in-Head Engine is vibrationless beyond belief at any speed. It has power to take you anywhere, speed that eats up miles, and flexibility that makes driving amazingly easy, even in the thickest traffic.

Comfort Ample Wheelbase and Cantilever Springs; carefully manufactured, softly-cushioned seats, properly tilted at the most inviting angle; roomy, convenient seating arrangements—Buick builds comfort for driver and passengers into every car.

Economy Low fuel costs with the efficient Buick engine; only four oil changes a year with the Vacuum Ventilator; increased tire mileage with Balanced Wheels—these are examples of Buick economy. But Buick's justly famous dependability and long life provide the greatest economy of all.

Value Because Buick uses the earnings of leadership to further enrich Buick quality; because Buick constantly strives to improve and refine its product; because Buick gives everything a motor car can offer—in greater measure, at moderate cost—Buick is today the greatest value automobile dollars can buy.

For Men Who Get Up Cross in the Morning

Lots of men are like that. Won't speak a pleasant word—indeed they'll speak to you all—until they've had their breakfast. No matter what you say to them, it's the wrong thing.

The way to treat men like that is not with conversation. They are the men who, like most Americans, live on their nerves. They work too hard. They don't get enough sleep. And when they have to get up in the morning, they are not completely rested. So they're cross.

What they need is a good hot drink that will refresh them—that will taste delicious and satisfying without setting their nerves on edge—that will give them a comfortable sense of well-being—that will put them in harmony with themselves, with you, and with the rest of the world—and that will make them fit for the strenuous day before them.

Any one of the three perfect RIDGWAYS blends can do this. Try it! Compare its effects with those of any other drink. You'll notice the difference in one day. You'll be calmer, happier, and easier to live with. And you'll love the delicious, full-bodied flavor.

WILBUR BELIEVES AIRMEN'S FEATS TO AD COMMERCE

Washington, June 15.—(AP)—The air feats of Byrd, Lindbergh and other aviators are being hailed as a rather than military aviation development, in the opinion of Secretary Wilbur.

He made this declaration today when asked if the flights over the north pole and across the Atlantic would influence him in requesting congress for additional appropriations for naval aeronautics.

He pointed out that congress already had approved a five-year aviation program for both the army and navy, and said he thought it would be more disposed to favor this branch of the military service in the future, in view of the striking air performances in recent months.

SMITH SPEAKS TODAY AT BUSINESS CLUB

W. Zode Smith, superintendent of Atlanta waterworks, will be principal speaker at the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the American Business club today, it was announced Monday by John W. Woods, president.

Mr. Smith will discuss Atlanta's waterworks and the problems confronting the department. The luncheon will begin promptly at 1 o'clock at the Henry Grady hotel.

Women Voters Plan One-Day Citizenship School June 24

The Atlanta College Park and DeKalb Leagues of Women Voters will unite in a one-day citizenship school on Friday, June 24, starting at 10:30 o'clock at the East Lake Country club. Presiding over the morning session will be Mrs. R. L. Turman, Mrs. Dan C. Lyle and Mrs. Wellington Stevenson, the presidents of the three leagues. Mrs. Viola Ross Napier, of Macon, chairman of legislation for the Georgia league, will preside over the luncheon.

One of the most interesting programs in months has been arranged for the occasion. Prominent men and women, among whom will be Governor Walker, Governor-elect Hardman, the representatives of the legislature from Fulton county, chairmen of legislative committees, civic organizations and others will be specially invited guests of honor. Among the bills to be discussed will be constitutional convention, tax reform and the children's bills. These are of special interest to league members, having been adopted for its program of work.

The school is free to members and friends, but there will be a charge of $1 for the luncheon. Reservations for luncheon can be made by calling league headquarters, Walnut 8264. The committee has requested that these be made early, as place-cards will be made for only those who reserve plates by Thursday, June 23.

League members are asked to bear in mind the institute of politics which will be given at the University of Georgia in Athens from June 28 through July 8. A registration fee of $5 is required for the one-day course. Special rates have been made with the railroads and hotels for league members and information regarding this can be secured by calling Walnut 8264. Reservations must be made in advance with the director of the institute of politics to insure a good room, as delegates will be expected from not only Georgia but adjoining states. Daily lectures and round-table talks will be a feature of the course with prominent statesmen and professors as the leaders.

Mrs. George Turner, chairman of the Seventh Ward League of Women Voters, calls a meeting at her home, 1526 Westwood avenue, N. W., Tuesday, June 14, at 3 o'clock.

The Ninth Ward League of Women Voters will sponsor a benefit bridge at the home of Mrs. F. J. Moran, 1208 Virginia avenue, N. E., Wednesday, June 22, at 3 o'clock. The tables will be $2 each and for reservations, which are limited, call Mrs. Fred Ardary, IV, 2920-J, or Mrs. Harold Roberts, Hemlock 0500. Proceeds will go to the ninth ward 1927 budget.

Mrs. Burton Advises Women on Motherhood and Companionship

"For several years I was denied the blessing of motherhood," writes Mrs. Margaret Burton, of Kansas City. "I was terribly nervous and subject to periods of terrible suffering and melancholy. Now I am the proud mother of a beautiful little daughter and a true companion and instructor in my household. I believe hundreds of other women would like to know the secret of my happiness and I will gladly reveal it to any married woman who will write me." Mrs. Burton offers her entire experience without charge. She has nothing to sell. Letters should be addressed to Mrs. Margaret Burton, 1108 Massachusetts, Kansas City, Mo. Correspondence will be strictly confidential. (adv.)

Women's Simpler Hygiene

More absorbent—Discards like tissue

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

ALL the problems of old-time hygienic ways have recently been ended, largely because of a new way called Kotex.

Kotex discards as easily as tissue. Thus no laundry, no embarrassment of disposal.

Being 5 times as absorbent as ordinary cotton "pads," you wear tightest gowns and frocks without slightest fear. Deodorizes, too, thus ending all fear of offense.

Obtain at any store without embarrassment simply by saying "Kotex." Many stores have it already wrapped on counters, ready for you to pick up and take along without even asking for it.

Try today and you'll never again risk the uncertainty of old ways. Box contains 12. Be sure you get the genuine. Only Kotex itself is "like" Kotex.

Sophy Tancred's Husbands

By ELIZABETH YORK MILLER.

INSTALLMENT XVI. The Well-Meaning Friend.

There had been a plot between Strossen and that girl in the lace shop to rob the villa. They had tried it the night before, but something had interfered with them, and evidently Strossen thought that if he were drugged along with the others no one would suspect him of having anything to do with the affair. Only in some way it had come out. That clever Signor Moppet, who lived at the Dorin, had seen the two together, Strossen and Mlle. Claire, and turned the police on to them, and he missing articles which had been taken the night before were found in Mlle. Claire's room. She—that yellow-haired Swiss—said that Strossen was her husband and had compelled her to do these dreadful things. But at the last moment she had been frightened by the Signor Tancred going to see her and telling her he would have her put in prison. Then, somewhere in between these various happenings, according to Maria Frensi, the poor Signor Tancred had gone mad and tried to murder everybody.

"Tried to?" Christina questioned sharply. "You said he had done it—that he had strangled his wife." Maria shrugged her shoulders. "So they say. The gardener told me." A sly look came into her eyes. "Very likely the Signora Tancred is dead by now, but if she lives it will be to thank your husband. He heard her cry out, it seems, and rushed to save her. As for the other, the Signora Brant, it is very queer how she happens to come into it at all. They found her lying in the old cottage, stunned by a blow on the head, but she is recovering."

"I am not interested," said Christina. "Now, you are as good as telling me that she, the Signora Tancred, is not dead at all. What do you mean? Why can't you get a story straight?" Maria Frensi smiled sarcastically. "I am telling you what I heard. Ask your husband if you don't believe me. You, who made such a fine marriage and kept it dark—surely you can ask your husband. Are not these Tancred friends of his? Ah, but they are your friends, Christina. Everybody knows that, everybody."

"Hold your tongue, you lying cat!" cried Christina. "And leave my house." Maria laughed shrilly, and tied the ends of her shawl in a hard knot. She folded her arms and tossed back her head.

"You, a lady!" she taunted. "You, setting yourself up above all your old friends! And what have you got for your pretensions? Everybody knows that your husband is mad about the Signora Tancred and that he despises you. Why, she was his mistress long before he ever heard of you. I heard that from the English maid of the Principessa Dohler. The principessa confides in her everything. They were lovers in Paris, and every one thought they were man and wife."

"It's a lie! Get out of here," screamed Christina. She seized a long-handled broom, but before she could wield it to any purpose, Maria Frensi had fled. Then Christina sat down and held her head between her hands. What was she to do, supposing the Signor Tancred had been so unfortunate as not to have killed his wife? Oh, that poor, poor man! Christina knew well enough what had driven him mad, not through being drugged, but because of his wife's perversity. "She is one who drives men mad," mused the unhappy Christina, thus giving form to a great truth concerning Sophy Tancred. "She has driven her own husband out of his mind, and she has thoroughly bewitched mine."

About this time Willie Moppet was sitting in a darkened room in the Villa Mona beside a couch on which Lilla Brant reposed.

Lilla's head was bandaged and the usually spruce Mr. Moppet was still attired in his dress clothes, minus the tail coat, and with his shirt sleeves turned up. His hands were grubby, there was a smudge on his nose, and a shave was needed. It is unlikely that our Mr. Moppet had ever been caught like that before, and most surprising of all, he was utterly unconscious of his appearance.

He had been drinking hot coffee, several cups of it, and devouring sandwiches made with slices of rather too savory sausage. Lilla had had tea and some aspirin tablets, and now she was going to have a glass of champagne and a cigarette. It was 7 o'clock in the morning and an after-the-hallish feeling pervaded the Villa Mona.

In spite of her bandaged head and the dark patches under her eyes Lilla looked fairly sprightly.

"What kind of morning is it?" she asked, blinking because of her aching head.

Willie replied moodily that the day promised to be fine.

"Glad I'm alive," Lilla murmured.

"What news of Sophy?"

"She's conscious—that's all," said Willie. "I don't know."

"The doctor seems to think she may pull through. Perhaps it would be as well if she didn't."

Lilla sighed and moved restlessly.

"Give me a light, please. This blessed thing has gone out of me, I don't agree with you. It's Piers who—" have they taken him away yet? The very idea of his being in the house terrifies me."

"They've taken him to the hospital. What made him go for you, Lilla?"

Mrs. Brant took a sip of her champagne before replying. "My fault," she said. "Although that woman of Brooke's began it by putting a flea in Piers's ear. Sophy told me some things. . . well, I'm afraid I can't tell you, but I was damn sorry for her, Willie. Practically she said goodbye to me yesterday afternoon, and I didn't think I'd ever see her again."

"Going to do a bolt with Brooke, I suppose?" said Willie.

"Something like it," Lilla conceded. "But I could see her point of view. What are you to do when human passions are roused to such a pitch? Sophy would have killed herself if she had to go on living with Piers."

"I felt a misery, I can tell you! I was going down the garden on my way home when just by that cottage place I met Piers and had an unhappy inspiration. Ought to've known better. She took a couple of puffs at her cigarette and lost herself for a moment in thought."

"In fact you played the interfering well-meaning friend," prompted Willie.

"You'd call it that, I dare say."

Lilla conceded. "He'd been brutal to Sophy at tea time, and it was that woman at the Casa Poverina who put him up to it. So I intended to reason with him. I said, 'Come in here, Piers, I want to talk to you,' and we went into the pavilion. Then I told him he ought to let Sophy go, that there were certain reasons why. She'd never really betrayed him. It's a long story, Willie, and an old one, and it's not mine to repeat to you, but I felt Piers ought to know, and that if he did know the whole truth of it he might have a heart."

"And then," said Willie, "you found out your mistake."

"Something like it," Lilla conceded.

Experts Pick Bob To Win Eve of American Open

Score in Practice Not Best, But Steady

Everyone Agrees That If New Champion Is Crowned, Atlanta Wizard Must Be Beaten at the Last.

BY DICK HAWKINS.
Constitution Sports Editor.

Oakmont Country Club, Oakmont, Pa., June 13.—Some say they hope he will others say they are afraid he will, but they all mean the same thing—Bob Jones, of Atlanta, is the prime favorite to win the American open golf tournament which is being played at the Oakmont Country Club, Pa., today.

Some say the course has too many traps, others say the course is fairly trapped, but they all agree on the theme of the predictions—the man who beats Bob Jones must be able to play his game just a bit more accurately for 72 holes than the champion can. Such is the ambition of every star in the firmament of American golf on this, the eve of the tournament. Can any of the 142 golfers left at Oakmont do the trick?

Try dragging the answer from your own outfit. Many believe that Johnny Farrell, the beautiful professional from Quaker Ridge, will be the chopping block on which the diadem of golf will be crowned from the head of the Atlanta youth, but that opinion is by no means general, and among the "dopesters" there are almost as many "suspenseful" as are prognosticators. On one point they all agree, however, and that is that someone must beat Bob to win the open—whether, of course, gives Robert Tyne Jones a distinct advantage at the outset.

Bob has not turned in the best scores in practice rounds, but that fact does not shake the dope, for Bob's rounds have been steadily around par figures and the others have been flashing from the high 60's to the very high 70's. This game of golf in the national open is a game of steadiness, not flashes of brilliance which flare for 18 holes and scarcely smolder for another 18.

Yes, they are all shooting at Bob Jones and when Bob Jones tees off at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning the tournament will resolve itself into a game of hare and hounds. Some one of the trailblazers may overtake him, but the tale will not be told until the dusk of Thursday spreads across the hills of Oakmont and the post-mortem session begins in the locker rooms.

Playing the winner of an open golf tournament by practice scores is just like picking a winner of an automobile race by the speed in trials. There is the motor to be reckoned with in the actual race, and by the same token the human mechanism of 150 golfers is to be reckoned with in the open.

The pilot of the racing car may have out, his motor in the trials, and though he is a speed record breaker the race has never seen the colored flag at the finish.

This is true, but Leo Diegel and his 11; Phil Melhorn and his 11; Al Watro and his 70; obby Cruickshank and his 69; Johnny Farrell and his 70 or any of the others with their qualifying scores which surpassed those of Bob Jones in practice.

The game of Bob Jones as compared with the rest of the field was well exposed in his match Monday when he played with Watts Gunn against the figure on the green.

On the eleventh Diegel dropped his pitch within 10 feet of the pin and won the hole by canning his first putt for a birdie three.

Bob was over with his second and failed to make his first putt and took a five. Watts rained the cup with his first putt of 35 feet and failed to halve the hole. Hagen took a five after topping his second shot to a trap short of the green.

The marathon hole came next and in trying to stretch his tee shot over half of the 621 yards Bob hit a bit too slow on the sloping fairway at right and his ball kicked to a deep, narrow ditch and he was forced to drop out and shoot four to the green. His putt rimmed the cup and he took a six, while Watts won the hole by holing a 25-footer for a five after losing a stroke in a trap. Both Hagen and Diegel took sixes after both had found most of the trouble on the hole.

Match Halved.

That halved the match and things also along in routine fashion for two holes, but on the fifteenth Bob dropped his tee shot in a trap and after wasting a stroke to get out, laid his third to within 10 feet of the pin and went down to one putt for a four.

Watts Gunn, who was playing with Hagen, took a five after topping his second shot to a trap short of the green.

Cracker Game Halted by Rain

Spiller Negotiates For 2 New Players

Seeks Pitcher and Outfielder From Western Major League Outfit—Name of Club Not Revealed.

ALL-STAR, Ala., June 13.—(Special.)—Saved by the grace of an all-clearing rain that washed away their sins, the Barons are this morning undaunted by the Crackers through the kindly intervention of the elements. After a series of singles, bases on balls and bobbles had enabled the Atlantas to hop off to a four-run lead in their half of the first inning, rain clouds that had been hovering over the park all afternoon burst and emptied their contents on the playing field before Ted Jourdan, Baron lead-off man, had been able to do anything more than foul one ball into the third base boxes.

It was only a matter of moments before the field was rendered unfit for further endeavor, and the game was called off. No double-header will be played Tuesday, the postponed game having been set for August 29, an off day.

Pete Fowler and Ernest Woolfolk, outliners, are expected to pitch again Tuesday, or try to pitch, as was the case Monday. Fowler had no opportunity to pitch, while Woolfolk didn't do much with the opportunity that came his way.

Zoeller, the first batter to face Woolfolk, drew a pass. On the hit and run, Cuto slipped a single past Zoeller, attempting to sacrifice, forced Zoeller at third, going safe at first himself. Rhid singled into right center, scoring Cuto. Veleh, however, went out at the plate on the play. Barnes to Rosenfeld to Yarn. Haas poked a single into right and Rhid scored and Haas took second when Bigelow let the ball get by on the bound. Haas then counted when Gillis threw low to first after fielding Gillis's grounder. Gilbert also made second on the error, and scored on Schwab's single past second. Fowler retired the side by popping to Jourdan. Four hits; four runs; two errors, none of which were by the Crackers.

It was learned today that Mister Rell J. Spiller, boss and chief owner of the Crackers, had opened negotiations for more players with a western minor league club. Spiller is looking for an A-No. 1 pitcher and an outfielder, presumably to take the place of Laxy Welch in right field. It is probable that Spiller will get both players from the same club, so stepped in mystery.

Good pitching is an article very much needed by the Crackers, which has been evinced by this round trip that the Crackers are winding up their series here.

After the local season, which ends Wednesday, the Crackers hop off for Atlanta and a double-header with Little Rock on Thursday.

Three birds of the Dixie Lofts finished one, two, three on the day of liberation in the Atlanta Homing Pigeon club's 400-mile race held Sunday. One other bird, belonging to E. D. Crawford, also finished on Saturday, coming in fourth. Other birds finished Sunday.

The race was 400 miles, air line, from Dade City, Fla.

The list follows:

Dixie Loft, first; Dixie Loft, second; Dixie Loft, third; Crawford, fourth; Rex, fifth; Dixie Loft, sixth; Cole, seventh; Dixie Loft, eighth; Cochran, ninth; Ryan, tenth; Tucker, eleventh; Stoddard, twelfth; and Calcutt, thirteenth.

Black Lookouts Battle All-Stars

The Black Lookouts baseball team, of Chattanooga, will meet the All-Stars, of Atlanta, today at Spiller's at 3:00 o'clock.

The All-Star nine is a collection of the best colored players in the city, under the management of W. J. Shaw. The Black Lookouts came here today, which appears, has disbanded, having failed to fill the dates and the All-Star team was selected as opponent for the visitors.

George Underwood, Wilkinsburg professional, is paired with Bob in the first round, and they tee off at 9 o'clock while Watts Gunn, playing with Felix Scrafin, the Wilkes-Barre pro, will have his match with Hagen away on his first round at 1:30.

Bob's first three put green on the round when he laid his second shot on the green from behind a tree on the right of the fairway but drove his approach putt many feet past the pin and failed to go down for a four. Diegel won the hole with a perfect four, when Watts also took three putts. To keep the seasaw working Bob stepped out on the first hole after the turn and took a birdie four to again halve the match, but he entered the limelight for the first time on No. 2 and dropped a long putt for a birdie three to give his side an advantage of one hole.

The next two holes were halved in perfect figures and then on the fourth Bob went down with a perfect four while all the rest were taking fives and the match was again halved.

This called for action, and it was the deadly putter of the great birdie that turned the trick on the short sixth. He laid his tee shot to within 10 feet of the pin and was down for a two, while the others were taking five perfect threes. From that time on the match was not changed and on the last green Bob missed a 6-footer which would have halved the match.

The others were taking perfect threes. From that time on the match was not changed and on the last green Bob missed a 6-footer which would have halved the match.

After the battle in the locker room someone said to the Haig: "Bobby's shooting sloppy golf."

There's replied Hagen. "But that sloppy golf is just good enough to put him where nobody will beat him on this course. That's what the great Haig thinks and his opinion should not be so far wrong."

Tuesday the first chapter will be written.

The cards of the match were as follows: (Inside round first.)

Out 454 443 435—36
In 456 444 433—37-73

Gunn 545 453 345—28

Ben Paschal Leads Attack On Cleveland

Former Cracker Hits Two Homers, Triple and Double as Yanks Win, 14-6.

New York, June 13.—The Yankees converted 15 hits into a 14-6 victory over Cleveland today. Five New York home runs figured in a parade of four Indian pitchers to the mound. Paschal getting two and Lazzeri, Dugan and Collins one each.

Ben Paschal, the Yankees' new pitcher, led off with a home run in the first inning, followed by a double in the second and a triple in the third. He also hit a home run in the fourth and a double in the fifth.

The Yankees scored 14 runs, 11 hits and 10 errors in the game. Cleveland scored 6 runs, 10 hits and 10 errors. The game was played at Yankee Stadium.

The Yankees' lineup was: Paschal, pitcher; Lazzeri, first base; Dugan, second base; Collins, third base; Spiller, shortstop; Melhorn, left field; Watro, center field; and Cruickshank, right field.

Cleveland's lineup was: Spiller, pitcher; Lazzeri, first base; Dugan, second base; Collins, third base; Spiller, shortstop; Melhorn, left field; Watro, center field; and Cruickshank, right field.

The game was a high-scoring affair, with the Yankees dominating the game from the start. Ben Paschal's performance was particularly noteworthy, as he hit for the cycle and led the Yankees to a decisive victory.

The Yankees' victory was a significant one, as it marked their first win in a series against Cleveland. The game was a testament to the Yankees' offensive power and the pitching of Ben Paschal.

Walter Hagan Names 5 Probable Winners

Professional Champion Believes That 295 Will Cop Title If Weather Is Favorable—Farrell Going Good.

SPORTS WALTER HAGEN 2 C.
BY WALTER HAGEN.
American Professional Champion and Special Correspondent of The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance.

Oakmont Country Club, Pittsburgh, Pa., June 13.—One of the three big days in American golf of 1927 comes tomorrow when the first 18 holes will be contested in the national open championship tournament at the Oakmont Country Club. It will take a real golfer to win, for there is no course in America better suited to determine the champion golfer. Favored by good weather and expert greens keeping, Oakmont is as fine a test of golf as the great players have ever encountered in the play for the most coveted title in the game.

The American open has become a tremendous event in golf, and with the British Ryder Cup team here, this year's tournament is the greatest ever. There is no telling who among the many stars will win, but I am certain it will be a well recognized player, and after four days of practice I have had no cause to change my five favorites, Bobby Jones, the champion; Johnnie Farrell and Bobby Cruickshank, the American professionals, and Aubrey Boomer and Charles Whitcomb, of the British Ryder Cup team.

Today the Oakmont greens were being cut, although they were long enough to suit most golfers as they were. These keen greens are going to put a tremendous value on a five putting today, for while the ball rolls true it will take the finest strokes to get the long putts close enough to make sure of holing the next one. This will be a three-putt tournament.

Every section of America is represented here by the foremost professionals, and we also have a handful of the best amateurs headed by Bob Jones. I played today with Jones, Watts, Gunn and Leo Diegel and found Jones the same machine-like player he has been ever since he started out in this event at Toledo several years ago.

Bob Shade Lighter.

Jones is just a shade lighter than he was at Columbus last year. This will do him more harm than harm. He is just as great as ever and this is good enough to win if he plays his wife for four, and he usually does.

I have talked with a number of the boys and watched many play since I have been here. Gene Sarazen is a good player, but he usually plays a number of holes without making an error. Gene slipped to Oakmont about two weeks ago and practiced and was back again the middle of last week. He has prepared himself as carefully as any of the players.

The British like the course, consider it a fine test and suitable to their style of play. They all regret that Abe Mitchell is absent. Of the British, Boomer is playing best, and Charles Whitcomb is not only a very sound golfer but has the competitive instinct, important when the stakes are so high. The winner of the championship can make real money.

Ed Dwyer, Hollywood, is another capable golfer. I saw Ed for the first time five years ago, when I played with him in an exhibition at seven straight, two and one-half to place and three to two to show. All members of the British team are quoted at 12 straight. With good weather, 285 should be enough to win. With bad weather, 302 should do it.

Me, a Gunman? Ha! Ha!

"SPARK PLUG" TO MAKE LONE DONALDSON FIGHT

Says Abe Nissenbaum

BY HERB M'USKEL.

"Don't make a helluva looking gunman?" Abe Nissenbaum, alias "Spark Plug," Atlanta youth who was brought to Fulton tower here Sunday from Chicago to answer a charge of complicity in the murder on July 29, 1926, of Bert Donaldson in the Georgian Terrace hotel, smiled broadly as he sat in the musty reception room of the prison Monday afternoon. He appeared to merge as one, and his sparkling eyes sank in total eclipse.

Sentenced beside Frank Hooper, Sr., prominent criminal lawyer, and his own prospective counsel in the forthcoming legal battle for liberty, Nissenbaum with a few terse sentences gave his first and only interview since his arrival, and without paying regard to questions asked him, revealed authoritatively for the first time what his defense against the state's attack will be.

"There's no use of you newspaper fellows askin' me anything," he announced, leaning back on his chair and smiling. "The newspapers have already printed a lotta junk about me —they pegged me as a gunman—gunman! Ha! That's hot!"

The dapper little prisoner, who has admitted that he might have sat in a poker game or east a few dice now and then, but who laughs outright when one suggests that he might know something about the demise of Bert Donaldson, gazed at a neat watch strapped on his left wrist—and still smiled. In a spotless white shirt with soft rolled collar, tailored herminette gray trousers and nobby brogues, he didn't dovel with the drab setting of the prison reception room.

Making Own Fight.

"You can say for me that I'm fighting this thing by myself—I'm making my own fight. Boykin ain't got anything on me, and I told him so. I don't know anything about Donaldson or anything in connection with him. You can go ahead and print that."

"I ain't got no connection with Jack Lance and the rest of that crowd—nothing! That gang hasn't anything to do with me, and there's no use bringing them into this. As I said before, I'm fighting this out myself—alone."

"When Donaldson was killed, I wasn't even in Atlanta. I told Boykin so, and he knows he ain't got nothing on me. I was in Atlantic City when Donaldson was killed—I told Boykin that I was there, and that I was there working three weeks before Donaldson was killed, and four months afterwards. That's all I have to say, and I've told Boykin, too."

"I came back here because they have anything on me, that's why. I'm feeling fine—I'm all right and I ain't worryin' any, either. I haven't got anything to do with Jack Lance or that bunch and I'm fightin' this out by myself."

Nissenbaum stood up, still smiling. "The newspapers called me a gunman," he said. "That's hot! I don't make a helluva gunman!"

Attorney Hooper, seated beside Nissenbaum, listened casually. As Nissenbaum resumed his seat, the attorney innocently asked, "Is it raining outside?"

Thereupon, Nissenbaum terminated his animated harangue and glanced through the dust-covered window. So far as an interview was concerned, he was through.

Nissenbaum was taken from a Louisville & Nashville train on the outskirts of Atlanta Sunday morning and was driven in an automobile to the tower in company with operative Solicitor General John A. Boykin's office.

Arrested in Chicago.

He was arrested in the loop of Chicago on the night of June 3 after having been sought for several months throughout the country. His arrest was made on an indictment and bench warrant dating back to April, when Charles Herbert Fitchett, ex-politician of Atlanta, implicated Nissenbaum and 11 others in a plot to kill Donaldson, through a confession brought to light by The Constitution. In this confession, Fitchett said that Nissenbaum was one of five men who guarded the entrance of the Georgian Terrace hotel where Donaldson was being shot to death in room 322 of the hotel by other accomplices. Fitchett also said that Nissenbaum was "active" in the murder plot.

One of the other 11 men involved by Fitchett, Jack Lance, Atlanta gambler, was sentenced to death in the electric chair last May by Judge G. H. Howard following a sensational trial which lasted six days. The other named in the indictment are Ed Lee Thompson, alias Ed Lee; Ralph B. Lovett, who is now fighting extradition in Little Rock, Ark.; C. D. (Whitely) Jones, Fleming (Film) King, and like Sneed, who is also in Fulton tower.

Donaldson, the murdered man, was a crime investigator working out of Solicitor General Boykin's office. He shot-riddled body was found on the afternoon of July 29, 1926, in room 322 of the Georgian Terrace hotel. At the recent Jack Lane trial, it was contended by the state that Lance, Lovett and an unnamed gunman, actually executed the assassination while the others indicated waited in an automobile outside.

"Vickie" Finest of All Offerings at Erlanger

About this time next summer when Atlanta people visit New York they will walk down Broadway and see the name "Vickie" blazing forth in electric lights as the attraction of some popular theatre with the names of Madge Kennedy and Sidney Blackmer as the stars, shimmering in the white lights if the verdict passed on this really wonderful comedy by the Atlanta audience at its first performance on any stage, means anything. Faultlessly acted Monday night at the Erlanger theatre by Miss Kennedy and her associate players, the comedy written by Alice Duer Miller proved a real hit and assuredly a brilliant audience at its Atlanta premiere.

"Vickie" should by all means be a novelty in New York because of its dealness for one thing since a philanthropist husband in the play. It is a novelty also because it is so human, so natural and because the several of the erstwhile rivals, the interference of other odds and ends to bring the wife back to the errant husband's bedside with everything coming out all right at least for the husband, in the end.

The comedy Miss Madge Kennedy gives one of the greatest exhibitions of acting of all the fine work she has done here in the last few weeks. She has a part that wins the whole-hearted sympathy of the audience and she gives it a deft touch, a mastery touch which leaves the audience in the grip of her work. Sidney Blackmer, as the other half of this remarkable stage partnership, has a role which is rather unusual and unusual part for him to play, but he plays it with such art that he makes a wonderful impression on his audience in spite of the excellent work of the rest of the cast. The Kennedy-Blackmer team in "Vickie" turns out the best performance offered since these two players first appeared here in "Love in a Mist."

Ardent Admirer.

"Vickie" brings a tale of an ardent but inconstant young man, who is returned to his father and a charming, clever and remarkably sensible girl and whose love is returned with equal impetuosity. The entire first act is devoted to the development of this love affair and it is the best first act of any play of any kind seen in Atlanta this year.

When the curtain rises on the second act the pair of lovers are married and then comes the test for the impulsive lover who is unable to conquer his penchant for philandering. Some tense and dramatic situations, created with rare craftsmanship by Alice Duer Miller and interpreted by Miss Kennedy and her associate players, follow. The devoted, loving and sensible wife remains devoted and sensible but does not remain as a wife, as incident after incident of infidelity on the part of the husband develops. She obtains a divorce and then humbly takes its course and the husband becomes wild about the divorced wife.

Hubby Repeats.

The last act shows the husband having every possible chance to win back his wife and it takes a case of typhoid fever, the interference of several of the erstwhile rivals, the interference of other odds and ends to bring the wife back to the errant husband's bedside with everything coming out all right at least for the husband, in the end.

MRS. SWADENER HELD IN DEFAULT OF BOND

Decatur, Ga., June 13.—(Special.) Unable to furnish the $5,000 bond required following her arraignment today in a justice of the peace court, charged with assault with intent to murder, Mrs. Eunice Grant Swadener, of Atlanta, was returned to the DeKalb county jail to await the action of the grand jury. The accused is alleged to have shot her husband's home at 1449 Cameron court, Atlanta, early Sunday morning and fired a shot at him from a pistol.

The couple have been estranged for some time, according to officers, after a married life of four years.

It is reported that Mrs. Swadener's defense is that the revolver was fired by her husband, who she asserted first procured the gun for the purpose of ending her own life, but before so doing, decided to make one last attempt for a reconciliation with her husband.

According to her statement, she called her husband over the telephone Saturday night, begging for a chance to talk to him. He refused, she declared, to do so, she maintained, and then "I decided to go to his home and tell him I would take my life unless he consented to a reconciliation."

The accused went on to say that Sunday morning about 1 o'clock she went to her husband's home. Enter her husband, who she asserted, she admits having the gun in her hand but declares it exploded when a visitor there attempted to wrest it from her. She has in view, she asserted, so that she could show her husband that she meant to kill herself.

Mrs. Swadener has not employed counsel, and her husband, who has a statement from her following the hearing yesterday afternoon were futile.

Mr. Swadener could not be communicated with for the purpose of obtaining a statement.

UNCANNY WEATHER THROUGHOUT U. S.; SNOW IN KANSAS

Kansas City, June 13.—(AP)—A June snow in Kansas was the first to a series of weather freaks recorded in the southwest this year.

Light flakes of snow fell for a brief period this afternoon at Ottawa, Kan. The thermometer there registered 50 degrees.

Rainfall was general over Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas, upward of two inches being recorded at some points in Kansas.

Top coats were brought out as temperatures sunk down in this section toward record depths for June. The mercury hovered in the low 50s here all day.

Three persons were killed by lightning in Texas.

"FUNNIEST EVER," REVIEWER VOWS OF "BETTER 'OLE"

Superlatives, it is said, do more harm than good and this is particularly true as regards the cinema; even a picture, it seems, is labeled with the thousand and one adjectives from the press agent's bag, as soon as it is finished; there are at least three "funniest" films; any number of the "funniest" pictures, and a host of others advertised as the "best" photographs to be found in the city every week.

Thus it is that one hesitated to apply high-powered superlatives to a really big picture when it does happen along, but in the case of "The Better 'Ole" current at the Howard there is no other recourse than to name it as the most uproarious laugh hit the reviewer has seen this season, and to further hope that the reviewer will appreciate the sincerity of the statement.

"The Better 'Ole" is predominantly comedy. It has its dramatic moments and these are genuine, but it is to Sydney Chaplin as "Old Bill" and to the genius of a "gang man" that viewers of the picture this week can offer their thanks for the best comedy of the year—and if you still are inclined to doubt, simply ask one of the mass of folks who literally rolled in the aisles Monday night at the Howard.

A picture like "The Better 'Ole" should be advertised for the benefit of the public; it might be a splendid idea for Publicity Manager Gus Grist of the Howard to rig up microphones in several parts of the auditorium and connect them with a loud speaker in front of the theater; thus it would clearly be proven that either the film was the funniest thing out, or that a barrel of laughing gas had been dumped in the auditorium.

It is difficult to recall the funniest parts of the film. One has the impression of that one long laugh lasts from the first few feet of the picture until the last final fade-out of benign "Old Bill" face. To put an end to this, which could be continued indefinitely, let this sentence be your guide:

Don't miss "The Better 'Ole." Book by Wyse, a clever hit, has a turn with his father and mother assisting. The main fault seems to be an absolute lack of personality in all of the three. At the Monday matinee, Wyse, Sr., remarked in setting voice to his companions that the house was "a morgue," which statement proved, as far as Mr. Wyse was concerned, that the folks in the audience knew entertainment when they saw it.

The real show starts at this point with Harry Burns, an Italian dialect comedian, out next. This turn alone is worth several times the admission. You're no doubt seen "Italian" comedians before, but never one quite so good as Burns; his dialect alone is a show, but coupled as it is with clever lines, it is a "knockout." Carlena Duff, a comedy miss, plays the harp—now, don't you get it, if you don't think the harp (not mouth or
